

All panels use the preselected fixed grid. Historical M2 used binary supervision; other models used continuous targets.